Join an online music discussion forum for one particular artist.

Request 1 person on there to send you a 1 minute recording of them vocalising, without words, a sound that they feel represents their artist.

If their recording exceeds 1 minute, edit anything after the first minute.
If the recording does not make a minute, delete and request a recording from someone else.

Repeat process for another 16 online music discussion forums.
Each one should be for a particular artist.

Make sure all 17 people you request sound from share similar characteristics.

Mix the 17 recordings together into a single 1 minute performance.

Obtain a list of email addresses to spam.

Create a new email account and email your recording as an MP3 to the millions of people on the list you obtained.

Delete the new email account in case one of the millions of people you have emailed the song to actually listens to it and attempts to respond to you.

Delete the song..
